Business Opportunities

Trade in services has become the new engine of the development of the global economy

At present, the new revolution of science and technology and industrial transformation are thriving, and the progress of manufacturing servitization and services digitalization is accelerating. The service sector plays a more and more pivotal role in the global value chain. The investment cooperation of trade in services has become the vital engine of the global economic growth. According to the report of the World Trade Organization in 2019, the proportion of trade in services in global trade has grown from 9% in 1970 to 20% now. By 2040, this figure is expected to grow to one third.

"China Services" brings the world new opportunities

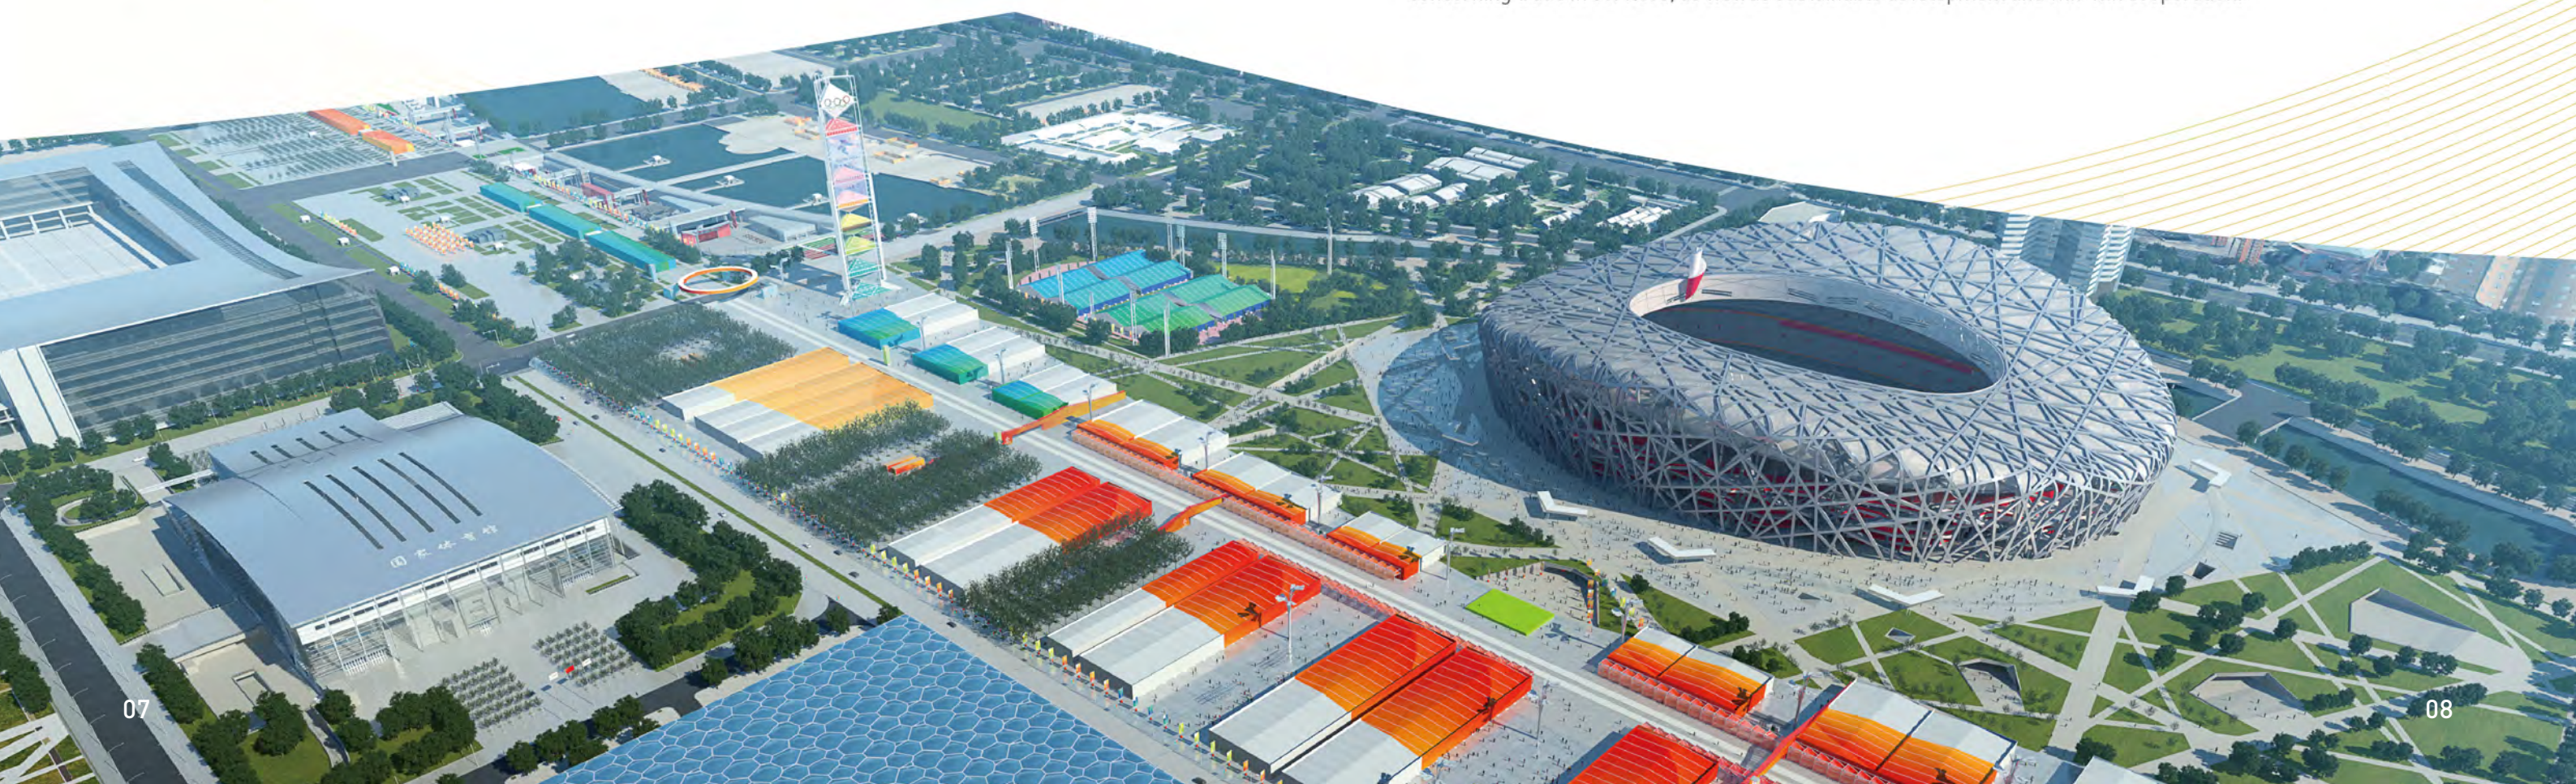

China is stepping into the era of service economy. In 2019, the added value of the service industry accounted for 53.9% of GDP, and the contribution rate of the service industry to economic growth reached 59.4%. China attaches much importance to the development of the service industry and trade in services. President Xi Jinping has declared many times that China's door will only open wider. In 15 years, there will be services of over USD10 trillion imported into China, bringing the world new opportunities.

"Beijing Services" with promising prospects and numerous business opportunities

As the capital of China, Beijing is a leader in building a service-led economy. The added value of the service industry accounts for over 80% of the GRDP, and the total amount of trade in services occupies 1/5 of that of the whole nation. Beijing has built trade contacts with more than 200 countries and regions, and over 1,000 service enterprises have realized transnational operation. It has the most headquarters of Fortune 500 companies in the world for six consecutive years. The development featuring globalization, high-end orientation, clustering and amalgamation becomes apparent.

China International Fair for Trade in Services (CIFTIS) Takes the Lead in Opening-Up and Innovation, and Promotes Shared Prosperity

As one of the three exhibition platforms for China's opening-up, CIFTIS is an important trade fair in the field of international trade in services to spread ideas, connect supply and demand, share business opportunities and promote joint development, and will build a new platform for governments, international organizations, and global service trade enterprises and institutions with regard to display, communication, negotiation and cooperation. CIFTIS will set up a new bridge for global exhibitors to share business opportunities and promote joint development; and explore new channels for global elites in political, commercial, academic and research circles to discuss hotspots concerning trade in services, as well as sustainable development and win-win cooperation.
